EVARTS' PATENT SHINGLE JIG

EVARTS & BUTLER,
PROPRIETORS & MANUFACTURERS,
CHICAGO, ILLINOIS.

THE SMOOTHNESS OF THE WORK WHICH GIVES this Mill a superiority, is produced by making the cut in the direction of the fibre of the wood.

The ease with which wood is worked in that direction gives a speed to the cut; and the flexibility of the shingle without shake removes the necessity of thinning the butt on its edge, so as to cut away but little of the wood.

The shingles now made with this mill can be delivered at seventy-five cents per thousand higher than any other sawed shingles.

This mill is made entirely of iron—strong, simple and at the least workable, easily worked, and not liable to get out of order.

ATROCIOUS JUDGES!
LIVES OF JUDGES,
INFAMOUS AS
Tools of Tyranny and Instruments of Oppression!
BY JOHN, LORD CAMPBELL.
With an Appendix, containing the
CASE OF PASSMORE WILLIAMSON.
Edited, with an Introduction and Notes,
BY RICHARD HILDRETH.
One Volume, 420 pages, 12mo. Price $1,00.

THE various man-hunting expeditions which have, within the last few years, been made into the North, and the numerous reclamations of slaves in the Courts, Burns, and similar cases, and the crowning act of infamy enacted by
JUDGE KANE UPON PASSMORE WILLIAMSON,
have aroused the profoundest indignation and alarm. The Publishers believe, therefore, that this supply at least and cleanly drawn record of what judges have done, will find the people to see with it, if unchecked, judges may also do.

Christadoro's Hair Dye still Triumphant!
CONTRAST the dirty brought out in the hair by Christadoro's matchless ravishing Hair Dye, and those produced by application of the horrible Jacks' cards, easily told as Hair Dyes, you can see more than one color is natural in one case, unnatural in the other; and the simple reason is this: Christadoro's is the only preparation which by its scientific chemical combinations acts on natural and immutable principles. Made, sold and applied (in 10 private rooms) at Christadoro's, 6 Astor House, Broadway, N. Y. Also for sale by the principal Druggists and Perfumers throughout the country.

NEARLY READY.
The Mormons at Home.
Descriptive of a Year Through Kanesville and Utah, and of a Residence at the Great Salt Lake City, by the Wife of the late United States Secretary for Utah.
PORTIONS OF THIS WORK have appeared in Putnam's Monthly, under the title of "Life among the Mormons," and have been received by the press and the public with the strongest evidence of commendation and interest. The facilities enjoyed by the author for acquiring information of the peculiar policy of the Mormon leaders, and for observing the effect of this policy upon the interior social and family life of the people were such as to secure for her pages peculiar and permanent value. One volume, 12mo. Price 75 cents.

THIS DAY PUBLISHED
EDITH,
THE QUAKER'S DAUGHTER.
A TALE OF PURITAN TIMES.
BY ONE OF HER DESCENDANTS.
12mo, Cloth. Price $1.25.

A MORE CHARMING TALE has rarely if ever made its appearance in any country. The scene is laid in Boston, in the time of the Puritan persecution of the Quakers by the Puritans, and this circumstance adds very great interest to a tale which does not require any such fictitious aid; but whose intrinsic qualities are sufficient to foster the best feelings, and deeply move the sympathies, as well as enforce an admirable lesson.
We add a paragraph from the book itself:—
"It must be confessed that the early history of the Quakers in New England fills a page in her records which the descendants of our Puritan ancestors would gladly seal forever from the eyes of men. The time of clear conference is yet too recent, for justice to either parties to be awarded. The consciousness of a cruel intolerance on the one hand, and the remembrance of suffering on the other, are yet too fresh in the minds of their descendants, and years must pass away before either can regard the other with impartial eyes. But our Puritan fathers should remember that the blot is only made deeper through their attempts to cancel those deeds of cruelty by false representations of their victims. Such is the duty of every faithful representative of those times to depict their character with fairness, and to do justice to the motives that influenced their actions.
"We trust the time is not far distant when the spirit that still characterizes New England men, especially her clergy, will give place to a more enlightened feeling of brotherhood, and that the Quaker, as well as the Puritan, may, when the dead shall arise, be regarded alone as those who are now cried down by the majority, and if their peculiarities are fast disappearing from our sight, their principles remain."

BY RICHARD HILDRETH.
One Volume, 420 pages, 12mo. Price $1,00.

THE various man-hunting expeditions which have, within the last few years, been made into the North, and the numerous reclamations of slaves in the Courts, Burns, and similar cases, and the crowning act of infamy enacted by
have aroused the profoundest indignation and alarm. The Publishers believe, therefore, that this supply at least and cleanly drawn record of what judges have done, will find the people to see with it, if unchecked, judges may also do.

Notice of the Morning.

The House standing committees were announced yesterday. They will be found in our telegraphic report. Campbell, of Ohio, is chairman of Commerce on Ways and Means; Welch of Miss., on Elections; Giddings, on Claims; Washburne, of Ill., on Commerce.

The Supreme Court at Madison yesterday in session a couple of hours. The Pioneers met there and had a pleasant time. [illegible] argument for Mr. Barlow this morning.

[illegible] morning's mail, from a correspondent in Ozaukee County, confirming the election of [illegible] by about nine votes.

[illegible] and Democratic Caucus for various purposes.

Business Notice.

[illegible] to the notice under the editorial head, [illegible] Jones & Fillmore, who have purchased [illegible] of the Post eleven years, and [illegible] of the profits of its proprietors, has [illegible] his interest in the establishment and withdrawn from the firm of Rufus King & Co. We [illegible] leave our long-time friend and associate, and [illegible] having elected to his [illegible] position, we [illegible] with him.

[illegible] made in no wise affecting the [illegible] The additional management of the [illegible] pers will be conducted by the remaining partners as heretofore, and responsibilities, to the discharge [illegible] they pledge their best efforts, and [illegible] upon the generous confidence and liberal support of friends and patrons to [illegible] their success and cheer their labors.

Truth Stronger than Fiction.

Prince Rossa, a citizen of Wisconsin, residing at Milton, Rock County, and [illegible] in Marquette, has just been pardoned [illegible] State Prison, after a confinement of one year and a half, under circumstances [illegible] more than a passing notice.—Some two years since, Davis was keeping a [illegible] on the Mississippi River, on Texas [illegible], Louisiana. One night there came to his [illegible] three fugitive slaves, with bloodhounds and armed [illegible], hungry, naked and [illegible].

They stated that they had been raised in Kentucky, and recently sold south; that they had been [illegible] a plantation and set to picking cotton; that this was new work for them, and they made rather a poor hand at it; that the overseer, by way of quickening their faculties, had [illegible] them severely, and repeatedly; and that [illegible] maddened by such undeserved punishment, they had fled and were striving to make [illegible] to the north.

[illegible] forgetful of the respect due to the "peculiar institution," but remembering that injunction of the "higher law," which commands us to [illegible] the naked, clothe the naked, minister [illegible] the wants of those poor fugitives, furnished them with a little money, and bid them God speed on their way towards the North Star, that bright Star of Hope and Freedom which had [illegible] upon their dark pathway. But the pursuers [illegible] on their track; bloodhounds followed [illegible] by [illegible], and run them down; and among [illegible] of posture they recognized the name of [illegible] Samaritan, who had bound their wounds, [illegible] them hunger and clothed their naked [illegible]. Davis was immediately arrested, tried for [illegible] crime against the laws of Louisiana, [illegible] of the felony, and sentenced to twenty [illegible] at hard labor in the State Prison! The [illegible] upon his friends in Wisconsin, [illegible] to that clap. They could not believe [illegible] the "land of Freedom a man, guilty of [illegible] than the exercise of Christian [illegible] [illegible] to be consigned to a dungeon for [illegible] years. But the fact was indisputable, [illegible] only appeal was to Executive clemency.

[illegible] Sawyer, a brother of the prisoner went [illegible] to Madison, all this last winter, to obtain his pardon—but in vain. The interests of [illegible] "peculiar institution" forbid the release of [illegible].

This [illegible] the aged parents of the prisoner [illegible] to obtain their son's pardon [illegible] petitioned his father went to New Orleans in December and has been ever since using [illegible] and argument he could command [illegible] the object of his heart. At [illegible] he succeeded! A telegraphic despatch [illegible] yesterday apprises us of the fact that [illegible] was again free, after an imprisonment [illegible] two years and a half in the Louisiana [illegible]. Prejudice, the High crime and misdemeanor [illegible] rejoicing three men, wandering, naked, [illegible] starving Boa-creatures! What a [illegible] upon the land of the free and [illegible] home! What a frightful comment [illegible] upon the fulfillment of the [illegible] of Independence, that "all [illegible] created equal" and endowed by their [illegible] with the inalienable rights of "Life, [illegible] and the pursuit of happiness!" What a [illegible] upon the boasted civilization of South[illegible] Today! What a stain and stigma upon [illegible] American People! What can be [illegible] or excuse of an institution which constantly and inexorably demands, as the [illegible] sacrifice of its existence, such an [illegible] and heinous act, such a violation of [illegible] [illegible] as Right to Human Slaves [illegible] defiance of the Divine Law.

K. N. Nominee for the Presidency.—The [illegible] Courier announces its preference for "Sam Houston," George Law, as the K. N. candidate for the Presidency, and intimates that [illegible] from this State to the K. N. National Convention (which meets at Philadelphia [illegible] the 22d instant,) will vote for him, if "satisfied with his views on the vexed question of Slavery." The News and the American thus declare:

"We have several times, recently, been asked, 'how does Law stand on the Slavery issue?' We must be [illegible] make it a direct issue—[illegible] a question opposed to the extension of Slavery, and with the Party which is composed by Administration, and we venture to say that if George Law occupied the Presidential chair to-day, the disgraceful scenes in Kansas would soon be done away with, and the right of [illegible] settler—whether freedom or proslavery—secured and upheld.

The American anticipates that Mr. Law [illegible] around the convention and there define [illegible] position. If he does and it agrees with [illegible] that given to the American, we venture to predict that he will never receive the K. N.'s nomination for the Presidency.

Assembly in both Houses.—New York 93, New England States 31, other States 17, Foreign born 25.

The Madison papers give us material for an abstract of the doings in the Supreme Court in the case of Rockford vs. Barstow. Mr. Carpenter, for the latter, commenced the argument against the right of the Supreme Court to adjudicate in the case. It is full of well-rounded periods, but will, I think, fail to convince any one who reads it of its good taste in assuming the "divine right" of Kings for Mr. Barstow, or of a reasonable degree of common sense, however much appearance of law there may be, in claiming that a usurper must continue to occupy a gubernatorial chair in spite of everything but a successful revolution.

Mr. Randall, for the relator, Mr. Rockford, followed in a clear argument on the other side, and Mr. Orton, for Mr. Barstow, commenced his argument. This morning and part of the afternoon, Mr. Orton concluded his argument, and Mr. Knowlton spoke on the side of the relator.—The case continues to excite the greatest interest, and the Court room was crowded.

I have no space to comment on this case at present, and will only say that a case which on the showing of such good lawyers as Messrs. Orton and Carpenter are, appears before the Supreme Court and the tribunal of common sense in as absurd a light as this does, must be weak enough. When such men spend days in gravely arguing that there is no appeal from the wrong doings of a board of State Canvassers, one is reminded of the saying,

"Whatever is the height of presumption,
Things though unlikely, or impossible,
Experience often shows us to be true."

In the Assembly, yesterday, the Committee on Swamp Lands was directed to enquire and report as to the title of the State to those lands, and its right to dispose of them. The same body also passed a resolution cutting off all postage on printed matter from and after yesterday. I think it very likely that the resolution will be rescinded again.

This morning, in Senate, Mr. Sholes presented the petition of 1800 citizens of this State, for equal suffrage to colored persons, and moved a select committee. These names have been procured through the unwearied efforts of Mr. C. J. Russell. Mr. Sholes moved a select committee, and Messrs. Sholes, Hadley and Sutherland were appointed, but Mr. Hadley declining, Mr. Dunn was placed on the committee. I was sorry to see Mr. Hadley decline. A glance on his part at the 300 names of some of the best citizens of Milwaukee would influence him to give hearty aid to a good movement.

You have learned by telegraph the result of the movement to change the location of the Deaf and Dumb Asylum. The Committee award full credit to Mr. Jenkins, the Superintendent, for good motives in bringing the subject to the attention of the Legislature, but were unanimous against the measure. I regret to learn that the Trustees of the Institution, at a special meeting held to-day, have removed Mr. Jenkins from the position which he was filling with great benefit to the pupils.

A discussion of some length took place this morning on a resolution for a committee to confer with Mr. Jones, the postmaster here, in relation to postage, there being some difficulty.—Several Senators entered warmly upon the defence of Mr. Jones from any charge or a want of courtesy. I willingly bear my testimony to the uniform courtesy with which, on various occasions during this and former sessions, I have been treated by Mr. Jones and his clerks.

The State Treasurer responded to-day to the call made upon him for his statement of the business done from his predecessor, by stating that that balance appears to be [illegible]. The whole communication will be in the Journal to-morrow, and I will send it.

The subject of interest to-day in Assembly, was the debate this afternoon on Mr. Mills' bill for decentralizing the school fund. Mr. Hull moved to postpone it till the 4th of July, and the debate was on this motion in Committee. Members are growing restless under this physician's harsh treatment, and several democratic members took occasion to say that they thought the bill was a good one in principle, and did not deserve the fate proposed for it. Two of them voted with the Republicans against a motion to table the bill in the House, and it was made a special order for next Tuesday.

Mr. A. D. Gay, the youngest member of the Assembly, who comes from the far North-west, doubtless expressed the sentiments of the other nine, in saying that he was sorely tempted to go against the bill, because of the manner in which somebody had turned it against the democracy. He voted against killing it, however, giving his reasons fairly. He is a good speaker, and made a good impression. It will take but a few more years to teach him that it is not the best policy for his party to attach itself so strongly to the present system of School land management as to bring upon "democracy" more blame than honestly attaches to it. W. H. W.

☞ The Boston Atlas, commenting on the election of Mr. Banks, says:

"But this election has a far higher importance than any to be deduced from mere personal consideration. It is the first national triumph of a new party, summoned into existence by the gross mismanagement of the government, rendered an absolute necessity by the exigencies of the time, and now organized for the vindication of violated compacts—a party which, in spite of sectional misrepresentation, is a new entity, unexpected of the past, responsible for the [illegible] mistakes of no organization, to meet the [illegible] occasion of the present, formed [illegible] and irresistible, of the future.

The administration itself evoked an opposition which in the first year of its life has wrested from it a great majority in the House."

☞ The Great Case of Hungerford vs. Cushing will come up before Judge Doolittle, in this place, for final argument, on Thursday next. This case involves some $200,000 worth of property, and has figured no little in the politics of our State within the last year. We hope it will be finally settled.—Madison Patriot.

Milwaukee & Mississippi R. R.

The newly elected Board of Directors of the Milwaukee and Mississippi R. R. Company met yesterday morning and made choice of the following officers, for the ensuing year:

President—John Catlin
Vice President—Geo. H. Walker.
Secretary—Wm. Tainter
Treasurer—Ansos Eldred.
Chief Engineer and Supt.—E. H. Broadhead.

The compliment to Mr. Catlin, who is re-elected President, is well deserved. Mr. Catlin first assumed that office when the fortunes of the road were at the darkest. He brought to the discharge of its duties great good sense, excellent business habits, proverbial caution, and tried integrity. He has devoted all his time and attention to the interests of the road, has fairly won for it the confidence of Eastern capitalists, and now enjoys the satisfaction of seeing it classed among the first Rail Road enterprises of the country.

A CARD.

Young Men's Association Rooms, }
February 13, 1856. }

Our attention has just been called to an article in yesterday's Free Democrat, reflecting in severe terms on Prof Feltos and his lecture, and particularly to that paragraph of the article, in which the name of the Association is introduced, and which might perhaps be regarded as expressing the views of the Association.

We wish to say, for ourselves and on behalf of the Association which we represent, that, while we claim no sort of control over the opinions or expression of the editor of the Free Democrat, we utterly disclaim any sympathy with the sentiments of that article, and will not, by our silence, seem to assent to it. Prof. Felton, who is not a lecturer by profession, came, on our invitation, to lecture in Milwaukee, and we are not willing now, after he has left his regular business and made the journey at our solicitation, to complain in his face because (and which was no fault of his) we may not have made money out of him.

The Vote of Oconto.

Clarkesville, Oconto County, Feb 6, '56.

Mr. Sen. Editor:—When I sent you the returns of our election, I should have said "Clarkesville, P. O., Town of "Marinette." The other portion of the town is on the "Menomonee" River. This is on the "Peshtigo" River. There was not any election held on the "Menomonee" River; that portion of the town is of the Waupacca stamp. At the last Judicial election (they then had on that River some eighteen legal voters) they polled between forty and fifty votes; the result was, the Grand Jury at the next Circuit Court, held at Green Bay, found over twenty indictments against them. The people had crossed the State line from Michigan and voted. This explains why they held no election there. The Madison Argus and "Scely," the School Land Inspector, must know these things, and when "Scely" was here, several days, and enquired as to our politics, the answer he received will cause him to remember such a place as "Clarksville;" and if the time was to come over again, he would have more cause for remembrance.

Yours truly, J. H.

(We take it that this letter of our Clarksville correspondent disposes of the important fiction of the Madison Argus, representing the returns from "Marinette," Oconto County, as a fraud, and insisting that no election was held there.—Ed. Sentinel.)

☞ Celebration at Waupun.—The Milwaukee & Horicon Railroad is to be opened to Waupun on Monday next, and the enterprising citizens of Waupun celebrate the event, with appropriate festivities, on the Wednesday following. The programme will be found in our advertising columns. We have only space this morning to call attention to the matter, hoping to speak of it more at length in our next.

☞ "There is a North."—The N. Y. Evening Post remarks:

"By a singular coincidence it happened that the same day that we received the intelligence of the success of Banks in Congress, we learned that the Mississippi river was frozen over down to its mouth, for the first time within the memory of living man.

Both events furnish gratifying evidence that the power of the North is beginning to be felt where it has hitherto been defied. We hail the omen.

☞ Matters in the Pineries.—The Stevens Point Pinery of the 7th instant "sums up" its local items in this wise:

No respite of the winter here yet. There has not been an hour since the 20th Dec., that you could find moisture enough in the element to make a snow ball. Last Tuesday was Candlemas day, bright, clear and cold: From which wiseacres predict "six weeks winter in the mouth of March." We give it up. Meanwhile never was such sleighing known, nor so finely improved. Produce plenty, and prices moderating. It is a leap year, and every young lady has got a love of a cutter, with a fine horse and a nice beau.

☞ The Southern Commercial Convention.—On the last day's session of this body, resolutions were adopted requesting Southern Congressmen here to vote for appropriations of money to Northern steamship lines, unless the General Government pledged itself to give some Southern line just as much more—expressing the Convention's opinion that the duties on foreign Railroad Iron should be repealed—declaring the Texas Western Railroad line to be the true one to get to the Pacific on, and advising the South and Southwest to build it, and five branches to it, connecting with New Orleans, Vicksburg, Memphis, Cairo, and St Louis.

Then a Virginian introduced resolutions smacking pleasantly of sectionality, and in the words following, to-wit:

Resolved, That it is expedient that Southern manufactures should in all cases be used when they can be procured on as advantageous terms as Northern manufactures.

Resolved, That Southern men ought to patronize Southern literary institutions, and use book published in the South when they can be procured.

Resolved, That in excursions for health or pleasure a preference should be given to watering places and other localities on Southern soil.

These resolutions had the honor of being adopted by acclamation. Another timing at subscriptions for the several counties and districts of all the Southern States, to start that steamship line, finished up the annual Southern farce of a Southern Trade Convention.—Albany Evening Journal.

☞ Post Washington Progress, &c.—Numerous improvements are projected for the coming year, which we shall refer to more in detail hereafter. We observe preparations are being made for the erection of a new Pier, while a mill makes three at this place. The advantages of our town are being brought to the attention of capitalists. D. G. Power, Esq., of Milwaukee, whose reputation as an operator in real estate is not confined to Wisconsin, has lately invested a large amount of property here. He intends to establish the manufacture of Brick upon a large scale, and will employ several patents which he has recently purchased, for improved methods of making, pressing and burning brick. This Port is unsurpassed for that business. The clay is equal to any found on the lake shore, and those manufactured from it, are not inferior to the best made in Milwaukee. We confidently look forward to the time when Port Washington will be considered a place of no secondary importance on the lake shore.—Ozaukee Advertiser.

☞ Reasons for Wearing a Moustache.—Punch has questioned one thousand persons, with the following results: To avoid shaving, 62; to avoid catching cold, 92; to hide their teeth, 5; to take away from a prominent nose, 2; to avoid being taken as Englishmen abroad, 7; because they are in the army, 6; because they have been in the army 221; because Prince Albert does it, 2; because it is artistic, 26; because you are a singer 3; because you travel a good deal, 17; because you have lived long on the continent 3; because your wife likes it, 8; because you have weak lungs 5; because it acts as a respirator, 20; because it is healthy, 77; because the young ladies admire it, 471; because it is considered "the thing," 10; because he chooses, 1. The last is the best reason of all.

RAMBLES IN EUROPE—No. 61.

The Population and History of Constantinople—Its Appearance when seen from a distance—Old Stamboul and its Inhabitants—The Golden Horn—Street Lamps—A Hotel—and its Insmate—Almost bloody fight in which the writer and a Dutchman come off second best—After the encounter leave for Pera.

(CONCLUDED.)

Constantinople, Nov. 10th 1855.

But I am again straying from my subject. Seeing that the Dutchman was relieved of his 82 and his things scattered all over the boat, I supposed as a matter of course I should have to go through the same ordeal. During the whole time I had sat there without uttering a word, or showing the least sign of restiveness. Consequently when the officials had turned round towards me, I politely presented them my bundle of keys, some of which fitted inside locks, and held up the top of the trunk so that they might go to work. I deemed know what the reason was unless they took me for an Englishman, why they declined making any searches, but both made motions to me to lock up my trunks.

In a few minutes we were in a narrow street threading our way along towards the hotel of one Von Muller in Galata, which my Dutchman told me was first-rate, it being kept by a countryman of his and to which he had been recommended. The inmates were awaiting to and fro and it was with much curiosity that we crowded and elbowed our way through. By this time it was past 8 o'clock and had it not been for a very bright moonlight it would have been very difficult, if not hazardous, to have been out. The city is only lighted by a few miserable lamps suspended on cranes in the middle of which are a common tin pail of glass, while the light is produced by a rag which has evidently given turnsher of oil, placed inside of these things which they call lamps.

At last our interpreter halted before a tall, desolate looking stone building, with doors as ponderous and heavy as those of a prison. After rapping a while a forlorn looking object in female shape appeared at a window, some three or four stories up, and learning we were guests after a while opened the big doors. She was the widow of the late Von Muller. The lower part was noxious and rank with all sorts of vile smells. After ascending several flights of crooked, dark and filthy stone steps we got to the dining room, I suppose it would be called, and found a great number of people, of all sizes, colors and nations, eating, drinking and smoking.

Of all the places I ever had been in it seemed as if this was the most vile and filthy—but supposing I should have a clean spot to sleep, as the Dutch are proverbial the world over at all their hotels for the cleanliness of their beds and neatness of their sleeping apartments for their guests, I made up my mind that I could stand it until morning, any way. Our man was therefore dismissed and he went his way. Shortly after, the landlady with a candle in hand, showed us up an other flight of narrow stone steps, and turning to the right, introduced us into a room containing two beds. After talking over what we both could in Dutch we selected beds, bid each other good night and I congratulated myself that even there it was much more comfortable than it was on the Black Sea, oscillating with heels and head up alternately, like a cradle. But never was poor mortal man more deceived, as the sequel will show. It is said that the night after the battle of Waterloo and also many other great battles, fought in the day time, presented horrors at the view of which the stoutest and bravest hearts stood appalled. But if those horrors were great how much greater must they have been if the battles themselves had been fought in the night time.

I had not been lying in bed more than five minutes before I began to feel all over my person an indescribable sensation of being stung or bitten by ten thousand mouths at a time. Presently soon I felt a sort of lifting up of the clothes.—Thinking it all very strange I happened to turn my eyes to the window, through which the moon was then pouring a flood of light. My bed being close by it, the glass was as plain as if in the broad day light. There then was the thing revealed at once—the old house was full of bedbugs. Down they came in single and double file and in platoons, while a promiscuous crowd followed after. It might have been a fact or not, possibly I may be mistaken, for my nerves had commenced vibrating, but it seemed to me, while they were thus congregating from all quarters, that I could actually hear the noise made in rattling against each other in their hot haste to reach me first.

I kept whist as a mouse for some five minutes longer, to see what effect it would have upon the Dutchman, who had apparently dropped asleep as soon as he had fairly got into bed. Pretty soon his legs began to draw up and down, and his whole frame to shake. At last slap, slap went his hands, from which I concluded he was partially awake, and imagined he was being troubled with mosquitoes. In a few moments more his hard breathing stopped, and a brief silence ensued. I then knew that he was awake and had come to the conclusion that he had got a different enemy to treat with. The old fellow then sat up in bed and commenced sweating in Dutch, and with the pillow in both hands began pounding in front, in rear, and on the right hand and on the left. For hours and hours we both continued the warfare in self defence. My room mate, being a burly man, pronounced about three feet in width by his whole length of mortal flesh as a broadside to his tormentors. This they considered a capital field to work in, and it is hard calculating how much blood, he lost during the night.

Thinking I might create a diversion of the attack in my favor, for desperation made me selfish, I took my bed into the further corner of the room and built up a sort of chevaux-de-frise around it. This might have done very well for me in turning the tide towards the German, but in opening on my old pile of clothes to make my fortifications out of, I gave a doorway to millions which were before pent up. These came fresh to the attack, and actually seemed to bite through the sheet that I had shaken and wrapped myself up in. My next move was to build a bed on the table; but the table was too short, and after encircling much misery on that for an hour, with fewer bites, however, I fixed up a temporary addition for my feet. Wrapping myself once more in my sheet, and appealing perhaps too sacrilegiously, however, to the following hymn, which I attempted to sing, the pauses being all supplied by snake in their natural order by one or more infernal bites at a time, as required, I laid down once more for sleep:

"O Domine Deus! Speravi in te,
O care me Jesu! nunc libera me.
In dura catena, in misera poena, desidere te;
Languendo, gemendo, et genu flectendo,
A fero, imploro, ut liberes me."

But I was in for it and fought the whole live long night without shutting my eyes. But even as I now write, four weeks after the event, I have to lay down my pen and laugh to think how my travelling friend could swear in Dutch and bent the clothes with his hands and sometimes with a pillow. I can see his great form sitting straight up in bed, looking with a savage fierceness that betokens only to tigers or lions, for a plan to strike when the chances were that he would hit one of his mortal enemies. Such are some of the delights of travel in foreign countries, and such was my first night in Constantinople.

In any other city in the world I could have gone down into the streets, and either staid there or found another place, but I was a stranger, and even if not, it is not safe for any one to be out alone after dark. Early the next morning I got a man to take my baggage to Pera, where I found a very clean and comfortable hotel kept by an Italian. F.

☞ Official Dignity on Stilts!!!—From the closing remarks of one of Barstow's counsel, yesterday, M. H. Carpenter, Esq., we learn that Barstow intends, if he fails to sustain his plea to the juri-diction of the Court, to throw himself back upon his imperial dignity, resist all manifestos of the Court, and bid defiance to the law! Does this look like having confidence in the justice and equity of his cause? God knows it to prove too much for an HONEST man! We have fallen upon evil times indeed, if a usurper can seize the reins of Government—but defiance at the courts, and escape with impunity. We learned several days ago, that Barstow had boasted that his friends were organizing all over the State, and if he failed to quash the proceedings, he should be prepared to resist the mandates of the Court, and defy the people. We shall see what we shall see—we shall see whether Barstow, the First, will have the ability to perpetuate his usurped power.—Madison Patriot, (Dem.)

Law Versus Saw.

Sitting in his office was a lawyer—
Standing in the street, was a sawyer;
On the lawyer's anxious face,
You could read a knotty case
Needing brow,
While the sawyer, grim and grim
On a rough saw, knotty limb,
Ran a saw.

Now the saw'd one seemed to me
Like a double N or Gee.
And the saw,
While bevel-wise it cuts through,
Must be followed by the Grit,
Like the law.

And the leg upon the track,
Like the cut on the saw,
Plainly tells pure—
As the tempered teeth of steel
Make the wound that would not heal,
Through the heart.

And each separate stick that fell,
In its falling seemed to tell,
All too plain,
Of the many severed ties
That on human souls will strike,
Bringing pain.

Then methought the sturdy paw
That was to-ing and fro-ing saw
On the wood,
Held a yielding mine of wealth,
With its triumph to Land and health,
Doing good.

If the chips that strewed the ground,
By some stricken widow found,
In her need,
Should by light and warmth impart,
Blessings to her aged heart,
Happy deed.

Thus concluding, then, I draw;
That no oracles of jaw—
Twisting India-rubber law,
Is as good
As the curves of paw,
On the handle of a saw,
Saving wood

☞ We have been furnished by Mr. J. H. Prince, some curious statistics of J. C. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and Cathartic Pills, which we publish to show the benefit of advertising. His business now extends completely around the world, and whatever abode civilized men. But a few years ago, it was confined to its own State and city, (of which, by the way he was Mayor,) and where his preparations were justly esteemed. He now occupies a building which embraces the whole of one square, in the center of the city of Lowell, Mass., four stories of which is exclusively devoted to the manufactures of his Pectoral and Pills. He gives employment to eighty persons at home, and has five men constantly traveling in this country, for the purpose of advertising, &c. His advertising in 2500 papers of this and foreign countries, cost in 1855 $65,000. Besides this, he printed at his establishment, forty tons of Almanacs in English and German, which were distributed gratuitously wherever these two languages are read. Any one copy of his advertisements runs through an issue of 35 millions, counting its insertion in the daily and weekly papers.

The Cathartic Pills are manufactured by steam power, with great precision, and at the astonishing rapidity of 2,500,000 per diem, which is one dose for 518,500 persons. They are not, however, made at this rate steadily, all the time. The Cherry Pectoral has for several years been manufactured in such daily quantity as would require 340 men to dose it out, providing each man worked 10 hours per day, and gave a dose a minute. Thus 201,800 doses are taken daily.

It is further estimated on a reliable base, that the patients relieved, (i. e. consider themselves cured,) by these two preparations, amount to 11 per minute, or 25,840 per diem, all the year round.

What an immense operation for the weal or woe of mankind, and what a responsibility that these medicines shall be properly made! Had they been even more useful than they are now, could their value ever have been made known to the people without the assistance of the Public Press?—Tide Is Blade.

☞ A Local Freshet.—On Friday of last week the dam at the head of Pewaukee Lake, broke away and the water came down the stream in such quantity, and with such force, as to carry off all the bridges from the Lake to Mukwanago, except the one in the centre of our village, which was guarded by great exertions and at the imminent danger of the lives of many of our citizens, the their endeavors to keep the ice from accumulating against it. The water was so high that several of our citizens were obliged to abandon their dwellings, and for some time created some alarm. In chopping the ice away from our own main bridge, two men, Frank Bahner, (the man who whipped Broadhead) and Thomas Aitken fell into the stream and came near being drowned. On Sunday at two o'clock the citizens of Pewaukee, succeeded in blasting the breach in the dam, and the water has now fallen to its natural flow.—Waukesha Democrat.

☞ Ship Building at Manitowoc.—The Manitowoc Herald gives the size of the following vessels, in process of construction at that port:

Vessel for Van Valkenburgh & Co.—Keel, 92 feet; length on deck, 98 feet; beam, 27 feet; hold, 7 feet; burthen, 100 tons; to carry from 125,000 to 130,000 feet of lumber.

Vessel for Rands & Edwards'—Keel, 87 feet; beam, 24 feet; hold, 7; burthen, 138 tons; to carry 100,000 feet of lumber.

Vessel for Pfister & Co., Milwaukee.—Keel, 92 feet; on deck, 96 feet; beam, 24 feet; hold, 7 feet; to carry 110,000 feet lumber.

☞ Chief Justice Taney.—The whole country will be rejoiced to learn that the venerable Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States has so far recovered from his late severe and protracted illness as to be able to resume his high official duties. He appeared in his seat in the Supreme Court yesterday.—National Intelligencer, Tuesday.

The man who stands between Caleb Cushing and the Chief Justiceship has certainly a strong hold on the affections of the people.—N. Y. Tribune.

☞ Collingwood Route.—Messrs. J. Day & Bro. received a letter, a day or two since, from A. Bennet, Esq., Supt of the Collingwood and Toronto Railroad, stating that two boats, the Louisiana and Queen City, will be put on the Green Bay and Collingwood route early in the Spring, to run on said route during the season of navigation. This news we think will be received with pleasure by the people of Northern Wisconsin, as it assures to them a reliable weekly communication over one of the safest, cheapest, and most delightful routes to the east.—Green Bay Advocate, 7th Inst.

☞ Mr. Banks at Home.—A congratulatory meeting was held in Waltham on Monday evening: it was called to order by Hon T. J. Marsh, and Josiah Ruttee, Esq was called to the chair. Speeches were made by Messrs Foster Frost and Beckford, Hon. D. K. Hitchcock of Newton, and others. The meeting then adjourned to the residence of Mr. Banks at the invitation of Mrs. Banks who spread a table of substantial and generous hospitality. Most of the houses in the town were illuminated and bon-fires were blazing in every direction.—Boston Atlas.

☞ Fatal Casualty at Fort Crawford.—To-day, (Saturday,) a soldier, whose name we did not learn, was accidentally shot. Sergeant McCabe of G. Company came into the quarters and mistaking the deceased who was lying asleep for another man, he attempted to wake him by stirring him up with the muzzle of his rifle. The rifle went off and the charge entered the body of the sleeping man almost instantly killing him.—Prairie du Chien Courier.

☞ Pork for Minnesota.—We saw four loads of porkers leave this place yesterday for St. Paul.—Some distance to haul pork, but sleighing on the river is excellent and safe, and the journey will not be very tedious.—Galena Gazette, Feb. 12.

COMMERCIAL.

THE MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY SENTINEL, }
MILWAUKEE, February 14, 1856. }

Receipts of produce continue moderate, and buyers of wheat are shy of present prices. Barley is in active request and Oats much wanted for home consumption.—Pork retails readily at $6,00, the packers will not pay over $5,50. Corn meets with quick sale at 56 cents for shelled. We quote:

Wheat—dull, 1,00@1,32 cash, 1,56@1,60 white winter.
Rye—nominal, 1,00 @1,06.
Barley—1,15@1,20, the latter figure for a choice lot.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

WISCONSIN ANNUAL REGISTER.

WE have just put into the hands of our compositors the copy of a work which should be in the hands of every citizen of Wisconsin, and one that will be largely circulated in broad.

The Wisconsin Annual Register will contain from 90 to 100 pages, printed in a neat, though cheap pamphlet form, and will contain, among other interesting items, the following:

Almanac for 1856.

Description of Wisconsin—its Boundaries, Surface, Products, Commerce, Manufactures, Climate, &c.

The Counties—their boundaries, dates of organization extent, county seats, &c.

Lists of State officers from the beginning. Annals of the Legislature, giving complete lists of members County Officers for each County.

The Judiciary—the Judges, Districts, Election of Judges Terms of Courts, &c.

Vote for President in 1848 and 1852.

Votes cast for Governor, by counties, from the first.

Commercial tables.

Aggregate valuation of property by counties from the beginning, including 1855.

List of Presidents and Vice Presidents, and population of the United States in 1850.

Census of Wisconsin from 1836 to 1855, comparative table for 1850 and 1855.

Congressional Elections, by counties; and much other valuable statistical information.

The matter for the work is prepared by John W Hunt, esq., Ass't Secretary of State, keeper of the Gazetteer of Wisconsin, &c., and may be relied upon as accurate. Liberal arrangements will be made with booksellers and agents for the sale of the work.

Price 50 cents. Any person remitting 50 cents will receive a copy by mail post paid. Address

Saturday, Feb. 9 1856

Below you have a correct list of property sold the last week, as per Recorder's office. I would remark that the major part of the sales are made to those who intend to reside with us. Several lots reported have improvements on them. There is a steady and quiet demand for eligible dwelling lots, and a great demand for house property, both to purchase and rent. I would again say to those who have not yet secured themselves a house, to be about us.

CITY LAND OFFICE.

I AM now preparing my room, corner of East Water and Wisconsin Streets, and arranging my maps to call and Real Estate Trade, at which will commence in a week or two. I have the list of some property left with me last fall.

I would say to my friends that they will please call and fix prices and terms to that I can be prepared for operations in time.

I will give a report of sales of Real Estate once a week as soon as business gets fairly under way. I have made some large sales within the last two months, which have been reported, I see, through the Recorder's office.

STATE OF WISCONSIN, } ss
SECRETARY'S OFFICE, }

Satisfactory evidence having been furnished to the undersigned, Secretary of State, that the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company, being an Insurance Company, incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts, is possessed of the Actual Capital required by the seventh section of an act, entitled "An Act to provide for the incorporation of Insurance Companies," approved February 9th, 1850.

Now, Therefore, in pursuance of the Act aforesaid, I, John W. Hunt, Assistant secretary of State, of the State of Wisconsin, do hereby certify that Lucius Cummings, Esq., of Milwaukee, is the duly authorized agent of said Company, and is authorized to receive applications for insurance in this State until the thirty-first day of January next.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand, and affixed the Great Seal of the State, at the Capitol, in Madison, this 15th day of August, 1855.

JOHN W. HUNT, Ass't Sec'y of State.

Capital and accumulations of the above named Insurance Company, $200,000, all paid, and invested according to the laws of Wisconsin, (as the above certificate shows) The accumulations are to be divided every five years, as provided in the charter of the Company which is perpetual.

The Company having complied with the Law of Wisconsin, and established a Branch Office at Chicago Ill., is doing practically a Home Office of the West) where they write Policies, Pay Losses, and transact any business pertaining to the Home Office.

PIANO FORTE TUNING AND REGULATING.

THE SUBSCRIBER, having engaged the services of Mr. D. T. HUSBAND, a competent and experienced tuner, is now prepared to attend to all orders with which he may be favored. The following testimonial to Mr. Husband's ability is from the organist of Presidential Germania Musical Society

MILWAUKEE, March 27, 1855

It is with much pleasure that I recommend Mr. E. T. Hurlbut as a Piano Forte Tuner and regulator. To say that he is an excellent tuner, would not be doing him justice, for I can without hesitation say that he is capable of tuning a Piano as near to perfection as it is possible for a Piano to be tuned: but the greatest recommendation for him is the unusual length of time which Pianos remain in tune. I have never, either in Europe or America, seen a man whom I would so cheerfully and with such confidence employ to tune or regulate a Piano forte as Mr. Hurlbut, and so cheerfully recommend him to all who want Pianos tuned.
